Deb Groesser

For as long as I can remember, I have loved art. As a kid, when I looked at a painting, there was such a magic I felt and it would just take me away to a wonderful place. I always wondered, how does an artist paint those pictures?

I was fortunate to have the opportunity to take some art classes in my early twenties, and that opened the door to a never-ending passion for art and a lifetime of incredible experiences. As an artist, a gallery owner and an art instructor, I have had the privilege of meeting the most wonderful people from all walks of life.

I started painting in acrylic, then moved into pen & ink and watercolor. Watercolor is definitely my favorite medium, as I love to see the light bouncing back through the transparent layers of color and to watch the fluidity of the beautiful colors mixing together. As I tell my students, once you see life through your artist's eyes there is a whole new exciting world out there, so be careful when you're driving!

It has been a joy to have people from all over the world take my work home with them. I hope that my art brings you much enjoyment!
